Lafayette County May be Map- ped.

Arrangements are being made by the well known firm of Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, for a new map of Lafayette county.

The work is to be very thorough, and if the plans materialize for the publication it will be the most complete map of this county yet published.

Several new ideas are to be incorporated which will make the work more valuable than any similar undertaking that has yet appeared.

A county survey is to be made and will show the Townships, Ranges, Sections, numbering each and everyone so that any tract of land, or any matter of that can be readily located. All wagon roads, lakes, rivers, railroads, etc. It is expected that the comprehensive sketch of every county in the state, giving a brief resume of all important facts concerning each individual county, accompanied by illustrations of places of interest, compiled in each instance by competent local authorities, will prove one of the best features of the work.

In addition to the information concerning Lafayette county there will be a large state map, showing every city and village, where they are, their population, the number of miles apart they are, and their easiest and best means of approach, either by steam or electric road.

There will be maps of every state, and maps of every country. A general index will make the work more serviceable. The Rand, McNally company is very favorably known in the map field and it assures the work will be thoroughly done, and will be reliable in every way. This company is considered in a class by itself in the preparation of maps.

The publication will not be certain unless five hundred copies can be placed, but it is expected that this number will be disposed of without difficulty.

Several representatives of the company are now in this section looking after preliminary arrangements, including C. S. Warner of Chicago, General Field Representative; Mr. L. E. Benson and Mr. R. A. Corley. It is believed that the work can be made ready in about ninety days.

The June Woman's Home Com- panion.

The June Woman's Home Companion contains a further account of the fight for "Better Babies" which is now being carried on all over the United States. A number of photographs of prize-winning children are reproduced with this month's report. The Companion is offering prizes for children who receive the highest markings at baby shows of the new kind—baby shows where children are judged not according to their physical beauty but according to their health. The campaign is a great educational movement, inasmuch as it is promulgating the best available ideas in the scientific care of children.

Other valuable articles are: "How To Take Your Vacation;" "The World's Greatest Lovers;" "Not One Minute to Lose," an article in which the author tells about the great work done by the National Consumers' League toward convincing the public not to buy goods made in sweatshops; "Fit for Company," an article in which the author shows the absurdity of the idea that extravagance and foolish preparations must be made for "company"; and the "Mother's Part," an article in which the author makes many practical suggestions to mothers in connection with the training of daughters.

Fiction by a great variety of writers, art features contributed by many of our most talented illustrators, and twelve departments full of good reading and useful ideas, complete an issue unusually charming and serviceable to the reader.
